

Amy Harris, Ph.D. served as a school psychologist in the public school system in the Cincinnati, Ohio area for 11 years. Most recently, she worked as a school psychologist for Cincinnati Public Schools and helped to facilitate implementation of School-wide Positive Behavior Support both in her school setting, as well as within the school district. She has worked with Effective Educational Practices for the past several years to train school-based teams in Indiana, Louisiana, and New York in the implementation of School-wide Positive Behavior Support. In addition, she has served as an online instructor for the past 4 years, teaching courses on School-wide Behavior Support, Targeted Behavior Interventions, and Intensive Interventions.

Dr. Harris earned her Ph.D. in School Psychology from the University of Cincinnati in 1999. Her dissertation was published in School Psychology Quarterly in 2003 and focused on training pre-service teachers in collaborative problem solving and intervention design and implementation.
